

Introduction:

There is a bike chain store which has three locations over the USA. Its database tables have been shared with you. Please answer the following questions using Python.

1. What is the total order for each customer?
2. What is the average number of orders shipped per day?
3. Which date had the highest number of orders?

Feel free to ask any questions if needed.